Steve Naylor

Editor

This CV may be kept on file and distributed for employment purposes

PROFILE

"Always enjoy a challenge. Able to work alone to a brief. Like to apply a bit of polish wherever possible – perhaps through graphics, fx or audio".

Steve Naylor is an editor with a wide experience of broadcast television. From his training at the start of his career with the BBC he rapidly progressed to editor at TV Centre in London. This unique grounding in all areas of television post production saw him responsible for the editing of prime time programming as well as being involved with the creativity of promotions and demanding on air sports shows.

As a freelance editor Steve now draws on this experience to offer a complete service to his clients, from pre-production planning & offline to complex online finishing. His comprehensive knowledge of many editing systems & his BBC training guarantee high technical standards, particularly when balancing sound, whilst maintaining an eye for creative & editorial content. This ability is demonstrated through his work with facilities & production companies and his continuing output on all major broadcasters in the UK.
